Living in Earthquake Country

The Facts

Earthquakes represent one of the most significant threats to homeowners in the Pacific Northwest. The Cascadia Subduction Zone runs for 700 miles from Vancouver Island down the coast of Washington and Oregon. Seismologists have predicted that the odds of a big Cascadia earthquake occurring in the next 50 years are 1 in 3.

Why you need Earthquake Insurance

Your homeowners insurance policy does not cover earthquake losses. Without earthquake insurance, you will pay out-of-pocket to repair any damage to your home, to replace your personal property, and to live and eat elsewhere after an earthquake. These expenses can be substantial to your family!
